This new magazine is a reflection of us, not as a staff but as a school, the physical expression of what it means to be a Monarch Coyote. Between us, here on the paper, our website (mhshowler.com), and the Mosaic Yearbook, we strive to tell the stories that live between these brick walls. We tell these stories because they matter to us as students, staff, family, friends, and even rivals. We tell these stories in full color because we aren't black and white. We tell these stories to prove that there are people who give a damn.

The Howler strives to inform, educate, and entertain the student body of Monarch High School as a student-produced newspaper and open forum for student expression and opinions. Expression made by students in The Howler is not an expression of Boulder Valley School District Board policy and the School District and its employees are immune from any civil or criminal action based on any expression made or published by students in The Howler.

The Howler reserves the right to refuse advertising which does not adhere to the publication's standards, particularly in reference to good taste and to products and/or services that are illegal and/or immoral for the majority of high school readers.

Guest contributions sent to The Howler which do not adhere to the publication's standards may be turned down for publication.
